About The Conference:

The rapid growth of artificial intelligence (AI) and automation has transformed global trade and commerce, redefining the way businesses operate, interact, and make decisions. While these advancements bring unprecedented opportunities for efficiency, innovation, and economic expansion, they also give rise to complex legal, ethical, and regulatory challenges. Issues related to accountability, data governance, consumer protection, intellectual property, and cross-border regulation demand a multidisciplinary dialogue that bridges the gap between technology and law.

This International Conference aims to provide an intellectual platform for scholars, practitioners, policymakers, and industry experts to explore these pressing concerns. The conference seeks to foster critical discussions on developing balanced frameworks that encourage technological progress while ensuring fairness, transparency, and compliance within the global trading system.
